CACHE STAKE CONFERENCE

President Smith Indulges in a Practical Talk-Boosts Home Industries. Logan, Oct. 27-The quarterly conference of the Cache stake was continued here today, the attendance being larger than ever. The speaker of the occasion was President Joseph F. Smith and his son, Apostle Brigham M. Smith. The president of the church made a decidedly practical talk, boosting home industries in great shape and emphasizing again his belief in the value of the people of the state for not supporting home industries and in doing so called home-made goods. He said he had an imported coat, because he could not get a home-made one. But my vest and pants are home-made, he said. I have worn them until they are sleek as grease and shall continue to wear them as long as a fly can stick on them. We want home-made school teachers, too, he said. At the present time we are importing our teachers from Texas and the devil knows where to teach our children. Why? Because our old maids won't teach, or rather, perhaps they will, but their girls are too good and too beautiful to be left to waste their sweetness on the desert air. He urged the farmers and property owners to keep down the weeds and said he wished a law could be passed to compel every farmer to clean up his place if he won't do it without being compelled to. C. W. Nibley, N. W. Kimball and Isaac Smith also spoke. The latter reported the Cache stake to be in good condition, the tithing receipts in better shape than meetings showing an increase.

BURIAL OF MRS. HUDSON.

Large Number of Sorrowing Friends Follow Remains to Last Resting Place. American Fork, Oct. 28-Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. J. W. Hudson were held at the Latter-day Saints Third ward chapel today. Bishop John R. Hindley having charge of the services. There was a large crowd of friends and relatives present, to the last tributes of respect to the departed. The Third ward choir rendered very beautifully several of the hymns and a number of speakers offered words of comfort to the bereaved husband and family. A large collection of flowers followed the remains to the city cemetery.

DEATH OF THOMAS MARTIN

Pioneer of Provo Passes Away at the Advanced Age of 72 Years. Provo, Oct. 28-Thomas Martin, one of the foremost pioneers of Provo, died at his home at 7:45 this morning. His family was at his bedside at the time. Mr. Martin was born in Manchester, England, 72 years ago and came to America in 1853. After spending a year in the east he came to Utah with one of the pioneer companies. Shortly after his arrival he went to work for the Latter-day Saints, coming to Provo from that place. A year later he married Jane E. Ince and settled down here. Being a tanner by trade he soon built up quite a trade and was able later to buy considerable real estate which brought him a good income during the past few years. He was in public life for a number of years and served two terms as councillor from his locality. Many public improvements were started by him. He leaves a wife and five children to mourn his loss. Arrangements for the funeral will be made later.

CONTRACT HAS BEEN LET

Castledale Will Soon Have Finest School Building in Eastern Utah. Castledale, Oct. 28-The Castledale board of school trustees on Tuesday let a contract to C. P. Andersen, the Castledale contractor and builder, for the erection of an eight-room school building, the amount of Mr. Andersen's bid being $9,145 for complete building, outside and the lower story inside. When completed the building will cost somewhere in the neighborhood of $10,000 and will be the plans of the Poplar Grove school building of Salt Lake City. It will be the most modern building in eastern Utah of its kind when completed.

When completed the building will cost somewhere in the neighborhood of $10,000 and will be the plans of the Poplar Grove school building of Salt Lake City. It will be the most modern building in eastern Utah of its kind when completed.

The stake board of education and stake presidency, together with Architect R. A. Watkins of Provo, the architect of the new $30,000 academy to be erected at Castledale, determined on Thursday the site for the building. The site is located on the lower story inside. When completed the building will cost somewhere in the neighborhood of $10,000 and will be the plans of the Poplar Grove school building of Salt Lake City. It will be the most modern building in eastern Utah of its kind when completed.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bihler of Castledale entertained a very large number of their friends at a wedding dance on Tuesday evening, and Mr. and Mrs. William Peterson gave a wedding dance on Friday evening.

Apostle Francis M. Lyman, Rulon S. Wells and the stake presidency, consisting of President R. G. Miller and counselors, the former gentlemen having been in attendance at the regular quarterly stake conference at Provo, came down to Castledale last Monday and held a public meeting at the academy the same evening, for the benefit of the students and people of the ward. A large attendance was in evidence.
